EFT SELF-SUPERVISION SESSION CHECKLIST

1. Did I spend sufficient time with each partner?
Yes 🗌	No
2. If not, did I lay out why I was spending more time with one partner?
Yes	No
3. Did I debrief the co	ouple (e.g., How are we doing here? How was this session for you)?
Yes	No
4. Did I demonstrate sufficient warmth, concern and genuineness?
Yes	No
5. Did I inquire suffic	eiently whether I was correctly understanding the couple?
Yes	No
6. Did I validate each	partner by tying their behavior or experience to attachment needs, fears or pain – without inva	alidating the other?
Yes	No
7. Did I refer to the cy	ycle at least 3 times during the session without forcing the reframe on the couple, i.e., without is	nvalidating each partner's own version of the events?
Yes	No
8. Did I sufficiently li	ink each partner's emotions and behaviors to the emotions and behaviors of the other partner – by using linking questions, tracing questions and reflection?
Yes	No
9. Did I keep the focus of the session on the cycle, emotions and attachment issues without cutting the couple off in a way which might have damaged the therapeutic alliance?
Yes	No
10. Did I adequately	validate secondary emotions without cutting off the useful expression of secondary emotions?
Yes	No
11. Did I not refocus	a couple when there was actually a potentially fertile opening for clarifying the cycle, or accessing primary emotions or attachment needs.
Yes	No
12. Did I help partner	s capture the essence of their emotional experience in a way which helped them to engage with their emotions (more fully)?
Yes□	No

13. Did I not prema	turely give up pursuing emerging primary emotions?
Yes	No
14. Were the emotion	ons I focused on mostly primary, attachment-oriented and related to the couple's cycle?
Yes	No
15. Did I place eme	rging emotions in the emerging cycle and help the couple see how each partner's emotions	are reactions to the other's behavior?
Yes	No
16. Did I (actively)	attempt to set up an enactment?
Yes	No _
17. Did I process no	on-accepting reactions to enactments and help the partners see the trigger for the non-accepting	ng response?
Yes	No
18. Did I (begin to)	identify attachment needs or fears?
Yes	No
19. Did I relate atta	chment needs or fears to the negative cycle or primary or secondary emotions?
Yes	No
20. Did I generally	adhere to the sequence of the steps and stages of EFT – also going a step backwards when it	seemed necessary?
Yes	No
21. Did I actively w	ork to consolidate changes by (a) supporting a discussion on changes initiated by the coup	ple or by (b) initiating such a conversation, or by (c) highlighting new behaviors or respon	ses to each other or by (d) highlighting an impasse?
Yes	No